Joyce Trygg

I was born in Nova Scotia, moved to Burnaby with my family as a child and now reside on an acreage in the Fort Langley area.

I drew constantly as a child, majored in Art in School and attended every art class available at Douglas College once my children entered school.

My AHA! moment came when I attended the Beartooth School of Art in Montana. Workshops with Terry Isaac and John Seery Lester made a huge impression and wildlife painting became the norm for me. I was chosen B.C. Wildlife Federation Artist of the Year in 2010.

Watercolour was my medium for many years, and I still love it, but I now paint mostly in acrylics.

I have been a Signature Member of Artists For Conservation for six years and have been juried into their show each year with my paintings showing and selling as the show travels to China, Arizona, and Florida. Through this organization, I support the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust, an orphanage for baby elephants.

For five years I have shown in Italy at Fabriano Aquarelle, an international watercolour show.

I am a director of the West Fine Art Show Society, and exhibit with them at their shows, which combine art and charity. I am a member of, and exhibit with, the Federation of Canadian Artists.

My work can be viewed at the Kube Gallery or on my website at joycetrygg.com I can be reached at joycetrygg@gmail.com

Thanks to The Artists Journal for keeping me up to date on news and calls for entry.
